

said Carter, "but to have that happen twice in a day is incredible and while luck is a major component...Jeff was extremely well prepared for his hunt. He is a tough individual, superbly fit and well practiced with his rifle so it's not coincidence that he had such a great hunt. Hunting Dugga Boys with a .600 double rifle means getting to within 40 yards...and being able to quickly and efficiently make a snap decision and a good shot" Carter added.

Woowow!
Yet another Dugga Boy! Who could ask for more from a day's hunting? I have shot two bulls from a herd in a morning's time before, but never had I gotten on to two completely different solitary bulls in a week, much

Having a top-notch team, the determination to succeed and a good bunch of luck made this one of the most memorable hunts of my 45 years here on earth and definitely the best ever buffalo hunt I had been witness to!

A big thanks to the Stukel family for a phenomenal hunt.

Africa has a way of doing this to us men of the blood spoor – we take chances in far away places all in the hopes of creating a memory – stories that can be told over and over again...hopefully inspiring young and old alike to go for it and make their own little bit of history! GT
